

ER 192 Birds from Banjul (Gambia) to Abidjan (Ivory Coast)

I made this birdwatching tour as a participant of the West African Rainforest Birding trip organised by Marius Dussel (see www.bancredarguin.nl). During the journey with 6 participants we used two Nissan jeeps. No rain of significance occurred during our stay. Due to problems to get our visa we stayed one day longer than planned in Niokolo Koba NP in Senegal and additionally two days in Guinea were lost, waiting for our Ivorian visa in Kindia. For that unfortunate reason there was little time left to spend in the rainforests in the borderzone of Guinea, Liberia and Ivory Coast.

Short description of the visited areas :

Gambia

Marakissa area : we stayed one night in the Marakissa river camp, arriving just before sunset. Next morning the surroundings of the camp were explored. Recently many big trees were converted into charcoal in this area.

Bonto Forest Reserve : intact community forest of 60 ha. We paid only a short afternoon visit to a bird hide and surroundings, just outside the actual forest.

Tendaba : small village at the southern shore of the big Gambia river. We stayed one night in the basic camp with restaurant. In the afternoon the dry forest south of Tendaba was explored. Next morning a boatride was made into the mangroves of the Bao Bolong Wetland Reserve (220 km²), north of the river.

Soma -> Basse Santa Su : some birds were seen along the road to the eastern part of Gambia, where we crossed the border into Senegal.

Senegal

Vélingara area : We passed this small town in the afternoon, after crossing the Gambian - Senegalese border, on our way to Niokololo Koba NP. Some birds were seen along the road.

Niokolo Koba NP : big national park southeast of Tambacounda. We stayed two nights in Wassadou camp, next to the river Gambia. Three boatrides on the river were made. The trails around the camp were explored. Palm trees are abundant here. On our way to Guinea some birds were seen on the section of the park that borders Guinea, near the village of Kalifourou.

Tambacounda area : We passed this town twice, and observed some birds along the road.

Guinee

Sambailo area : bordervillage where we stayed one night in a basic hotel. Several short walks were made in the area; towards a rocky hill and around an barren airstrip.

Koundara -> Labe : Several birds were observed in the area next to the road, which was in a more or less bad condition. A short stop was made in the Bantala bridge and along an unpaved stretch of the road, a forested area near Komba.

Labe : relatively big town where we had a short stop and observed some birds in town.

Pita rea : some birds were observed from the jeeps in the area of this small town.

Dalaba : with 1200 m above sea level Dalaba is the highest town of Guinea. We spent here two nights in a good hotel, and birded the area of this small and hilly town. Just bordering the town, several tracts of forest still survive.

Dalaba -> Mamou : Some birds were seen in the area between Dalaba and Mamou.

Kindia area : town halfway Mamou and Conakry. We spent two nights here, waiting for our Ivorian visa. The area west of town was explored on foot and by jeep. Two reservoirs were visited briefly. The waterfall of Val de Mariees, east of town, was visited in the afternoon. Nearby are some rice paddies and a rocky mountainous area.

Mamou <-> Kindia : the area between these towns was crossed twice. Some birds were seen along the road, especially in a more forested area west of Mamou.

Mamou -> Faranah : travelling on this bad road took us the whole day. Along the road some birds were seen.

Faranah : After spending a night on the western shore of the Niger, we made a morning hike along the river banks. The area consists of small pools, riverine shrub, some wet areas, barren and dried out grazing land and fenced agricultural fields.

Faranah -> Kissidougou : some birds were seen along the road in this more or less forested area.

Gueckedou : we stayed one night in a nice hotel near the Ouoa river, at the northern part of this town, just 2 km from the Liberian border. Next morning two short hikes were made in the area surrounding the hotel.

Hundreds of Yellow-billed Kites came to roost in the trees bordering the river.

Sérédou area : Around the village of Sérédou nice pieces of forest are still present, and inside the forest is some accommodation, some distance north of the village. Many birds can be seen in the surrounding area. Unfortunately we could stay only one night.

Bossou : We stayed in a basic accommodation in Bossou, not far from the Chimpanzee research centre. Some birds were seen in the area in the afternoon we arrived, next early morning and during a special excursion to see the last 4 Chimpanzees that survive in the area. A lot of coffee is grown in the former forest. Some distance away is Mont Nimba, at the border of Guinea, Liberia and Ivory Coast. The flanks of this mountain are forested, the top consists of barren rock. The forests of Mont Nimba are home to a bigger group of Chimpanzees (200-300).

Ivory Coast

Gbapleu -> Man : some birds were seen from the excellent road from the border to Man.

Man : late afternoon and early morning a few birds were seen near a rocky hill in the outskirts of Man where we stayed in a good hotel.

Man -> Yamoussoukro : we had a brief birding stop along the road just east of Daloa.

Yamoussoukro -> Abidjan : few birds were seen along the highway (peage).

Grand Bassam : we stayed in the international hotel in this small coastal town east of the capital Abidjan. There are several nice lagoons with swamp vegetation and lots of waterbirds. We also birded the strip of land along the Atlantic Ocean, an old and run down part of town.
