heylen.wim@gmail.com

Introduction

From February 22nd till March 10th 2013 I joined the Eastern Ecuador trip of Tropical Birding, guided by Jose Illanes. I have written a short trip report with my personal bird list, and with some additional information that is not usually found in an organised bird tour report such as site information, guide reviews, etc.

Thanks to Joris Elst, Joachim Teunen, Hans Matheve and David Van den Schoor for providing useful trip preparation info.

Guides

Jose Illanes was the main tour leader of the Tropical Birding tour. He is still quite young but his birding skills are outstanding, both by eye and by ear. On top of that he is pretty persistent in trying to find the target birds. These combined skills make him an outstanding bird guide.

At Sacha lodge we were accompanied by local guide Jerry. He's not as much a bird expert as he is a bird finding expert - which he demonstrated by pointing out very distant and very much concealed birds and mammals (e.g. Great Potoo, sloth, ...).

Jorge was our local guide at Napo Wildlife Centre. He knew the local birds pretty well, and more importantly, he knew where to find them. I would recommend him to anyone visiting NWC.

GPS waypoints

All the sites we visited are well known and information about them is readily available on the internet, for example on <http://www.birdsinecuador.com/en/>. As such I will not repeat the information here.

I did manage to take a few additional GPS waypoints of interesting sites that are not well documented in other trip reports. All of them are in the Wild Sumaco area.

Description	Name	Geometry
Roadside stop close to Wild Sumaco. Good spot for Yellow-shouldered Grosbeak.	Papango Road	<Point><coordinates> 77.592186W,0.7184S,1145.300049 </coordinates></Point>
