INTRODUCTION

This report covers a 4-week independent trip to Mitú, Santa Marta, The Darién lowlands, the Choco region and the Western and Central Andes of Colombia by Raf Drijvers and David Van den Schoor.

It was already my fourth visit to Colombia, let's say more or less a clean up trip. We both had seen the more widespread species of this area on previous trips, so the focus was mainly on lifers, endemics and a few possible future-splits. We managed to see (or hear) 806 species. All in all, we had a very successful trip, which can be recommended!

I have now seen 67 endemics (Clements taxonomy), still a few to go but I'll wait a couple of years until the Giles Fuertes's Parrot Bird Reserve will be open to the public again and until the south is safer, to look for species as Gorgeted Puffleg Eriocnemis isabellae.

I'm not going to write a true 'trip report', as Pablo Florez and Jurgen Beckers have just released their guide, "Birdwatching in Colombia"; www.nhbs.com/birdwatching_in_colombia_tefno_194155.html This book includes specific maps, contacts, costs, and photos of rare birds.

TOUR SERVICES

To arrange the logistics for this trip we used Multicolor Birding Colombia (www.multicolorbirdingcolombia.com) of my friend Pablo Florez again, since we were happy with his service offered last time. We booked our international and internal Satena flights ourselves and Pablo arranged all the rest: local guides, hotels, 4WD with driver, etc. After some e-mails back and forth we agreed on the itinerary and price.

Pablo also gave us a cell phone so we stayed in daily contact and the final details could be discussed.

FLIGHT

We flew from Brussels to Bogota via The United States with Delta Airlines for 1.260,00 EUR return, taxes included. Much too expensive!

Our domestic flights (8 in total) were operated by Satena (6) and Avianca (2). We paid 1.307.650,00 COP per person which was okay. Only at Bahia Solano, they charged an additional departure fee of 37.500,00 COP per person. We booked the Satena flights via www.satena.com many months in advance without any problems but we had trouble booking the Avianca flights, Pablo arranged these ones for us.

Take note that the flight schedules of Satena are not reliable! They change constantly, even during your trip, so you should regularly check. They are often delayed and they fly only during the daytime hours. Our return flight from Apartado to Medellin was delayed and cancelled for that reason. And because the flights for the next morning were all fully booked, we had to get back to Medellin by night bus. The procedure to get your money back is complicated, so all extra costs were for ourselves! Book mainly for this reason no return flight with Satena on the last day of your stay.

Another important thing to remember is that there are two airports at Medellin. The Satena flights leave from Olaya Herrera domestic Airport (located in the center of Medellin) while all Avianca flights depart from José María Córdova International Airport. The latter lies along the new Las Palmas express way, about 40 minutes from the city center.

ELECTRICITY

Electric appliances operate on an alternating current, the same as the United States - 110 volts, 60 cycles (Hertz) AC. So, American-styled two-pin plugs are most common.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

Travellers need to be particularly cautious with respect to what they eat and drink and to insect bites. Hepatitis A and Typhoid Fever are the two most common diseases transmitted through food and water. Yellow Fever and Malaria are the most common diseases transmitted by insects. www.1cover.co.uk/countries.html health section provides an overview of these and other medical considerations for those travelling in Colombia. Health is always an issue of concern for people travelling abroad. Most travellers stay healthy throughout their journeys and return home as fit as ever. You have little to worry about if you educate yourself and take sensible precautions. The last few years, the Andean region is considered one of the safer places in Colombia. Colombia's urban centres, especially Bogota and Medellin are large cities and like almost any large city in the world, are generally more dangerous than the countryside.

LANGUAGE

Colombia is a country where English is not spoken widely, so at least a rudimentary command of Spanish will be helpful. Some of the younger generation in the bigger cities speak a little English and genuinely tried to help when we had language difficulties.

TIME ZONE

CET Time minus 6 hours during our winter time and minus 7 hours during our summer time.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many thanks go to Hans Matheve and Wout Opdekamp for giving us some up-to-date information and some additional bird sounds, to our local guides and drivers during this trip, to all the authors of previous trip reports, to Raf Drijvers for his excellent company during this trip and last but not least to Pablo Florez for his extraordinary services. Without his help would not have been the trip so successful! Pablo is without question the BEST guide you can book in Colombia!

SYSTEMATIC LIST OF BIRDS

Taxonomy strictly follows names and sequence of James F. Clements (Birds of the World, A Checklist, Sixth Edition 2007) with a few exceptions of recent taxonomic decisions and names changes (see also at www.birds.cornell.edu/clementschecklist/corrections), updated till August 2013. Some interesting subspecies (or potential taxonomic splits) are also mentioned. Notes of threatened species on the IUCN Red List were taken from "Threatened Birds of the World" – BirdLife International, see also www.birdlife.org/datazone/country/colombia. The list contains only species positively identified by at least one of us.

Great Tinamou Tinamus major

12/08/2013 - El Valle – Utria trail - a few heard

13/08/2013 - El Valle – Utria trail - a few heard

Note: This species is qualified as Near-threatened by BirdLife International.

White-throated Tinamou Tinamus guttatus

29/07/2013 - Mitú (Cachivera Ceima) - 1 heard

31/07/2013 - Mitú (MCH trail) - 1 heard

Note: This species is qualified as Near-threatened by BirdLife International.

Cinereous Tinamou Crypturellus cinereus

29/07/2013 - Mitú (Cachivera Ceima) - a few heard

30/07/2013 - Mitú (Mitú Cachivera trail) - 1 heard

01/08/2013 - Mitú (Mitú Cachivera trail) - 1 heard

Little Tinamou Crypturellus soui

29/07/2013 - Mitú (Cachivera Ceima) - 1 heard

02/08/2013 - Mitú (Pueblo Nuevo trail) - a few heard

06/08/2013 - Santa Marta (Minca area) - 2 heard

10/08/2013 - Santa Marta (Minca – Pozo Azul trail) - 1 heard

Undulated Tinamou Crypturellus undulatus

31/07/2013 - Mitú (MCH trail) - 2 heard

01/08/2013 - Mitú (Mitú Cachivera trail) - 1 heard

02/08/2013 - Mitú (Pueblo Nuevo trail) - 1 heard

Choco Tinamou Crypturellus kerriae

13/08/2013 - PN Utria - 1 heard

Note: This species is restricted to the Darién lowlands (EBA 023) and qualified as Vulnerable by BirdLife international.

Note: Depending on which author you are reading, there are two subspecies groups that possible deserve separate species status. Birds on the Caribbean coast belongs to the race intermedia, IOC split-off this birds as “Northern White-fringed Antwren”. The birds we saw at Ibague were of the form hondae. IOC puts them in the same group while Clements regarding it as a subspecies of the “Southern White-fringed Antwren group”. The Mitú birds belongs to the race rufiventris, a white-sand forests specialist with a slightly different song which as a subspecies of the “Southern White-fringed Antwren group” is recognized by both taxonomists.

23/08/2013 - Juntas (Cañon del Combeima) - 2

Note: The polytypic Long-tailed Antbird D. caudata is split into four species; this follows SACC, which is based on Isler et al, (2012). The populations distributed from central Colombia south to Bolivia become known as Streak-headed Antbird. Four subspecies of striaticeps, each of which previously had been treated as synonyms of caudata, are reinstated.

Note: The race duidae which we saw in Mitú is only recently discovered in Colombia with only a few records so far. This 'white-sand forest' specialist, (the so-called "Chamizal Flycatcher") is one of those comparatively Neotropical species whose taxonomy is likely to be extensively revised in the not-too-distant future.
